

Flying Together Who are we?

Flying Together is an independent corporate body which provides services exclusively addressed to the aerospace sector. It was established by AENOR (Spanish Association of Standardisation and Certification) and the IAT (Andalusian Institute of Technology) with the objective of providing effective solutions for the aforementioned sector.

The services provided by Flying Together are acknowledged by EAQG (European Aerospace Quality Group) and are included in the API (Aerospace Performance Improvement) platform. Thus, they are continuously evaluated and monitored by industry experts of the aforementioned body.

EAQG is the quality group of ASD (Aerospace and Defence Industries Association of Europe) and a branch of IAQG (International Aerospace Quality Group).
